

Is your business a force for good?

In this increasingly complex world, companies have to meet rigorous standards of social and environmental performance, transparency and accountability. They are deemed to consider the impact of their decisions on their workers, customers, suppliers, community, and the environment.

Being a family-owned company, Winlove has the ambition to leave a better company and better world for the next generation. For this, we not only strive with our probiotic formulations to help patients live life to the fullest, we also want to use our business successes as a means to a greater end.

During the Probiota round-table lunch discussion: Using your business as a force for good, we would like to share our journey to become a sustainable business that contributes to a healthy future. Moreover, we are also looking forward to be inspired by you! Sit down with Tara Corduwener, Director Marketing & Market Development at Winlove Probiotics, to be inspired to use your business as force for good.

Winlove Probiotics will attend Probiota as Gold Sponsor. For more information about Winlove and or probiotic formulations, or contact Winlove to schedule an appointment for Probiota.
